MATERIALS

The entire Krog range is made of durable and easily maintainable 22 mm melamine-coated boards. Krog's pedestals and side cabinets are made of 19 mm board, and their additional elements for workstations come in durable 12 mm MDF boards. All Krog's leg constructions are made of steel tubes.

FINISH

You have seven colours to choose from when it comes to the desktops: monochromatic white, olive green, basalt grey and colder steel grey, plus melamine desktops in lively birch, bleached oak and walnut. All our cases for side cabinets and pedestals are available in light or dark grey, and also in white. You can either create traditionally elegant or eye-catchingly trendy office solutions when choosing between a grey or a white steel structure for your Krog desk. And to add some spark to your work environment, the additional furniture details also come in cream, brick red, lettuce green and violet.

MODULES

Krog workstations are highly thought-through combinations of below-desk storage units and desktops. The desktops come in four different shapes, and have one end supported either by the drawer unit or by the side table (also available in three different versions). The other end of the desktop gets its support from an elegant steel leg or a strong drawer unit – whichever you have chosen to go with. The drawer units also come with hanging drawers and with castors.

ADDITIONAL ELEMENTS

With Krog, you can use various additional elements to create different functional solutions for your workstations: folder and desk shelves guarantee that everything stays within reach whilst the modesty screens and adjustable room dividers create the privacy you need. Krog's desktops can be extended with differently shaped extra surfaces, making all your conversations with colleagues and clients relaxed and comfortable.
